The Allure of the Longcut

Longcut, an imprint of Melville House Publishing, is renowned for its meticulously curated collection of must-read American literature. Ranging from forgotten masterpieces to groundbreaking contemporary works, the series offers a comprehensive and diverse exploration of the American literary landscape.

Each title in the Longcut series is carefully selected by a distinguished editorial board, ensuring that only the most extraordinary, thought-provoking, and enduring works find their way into the fold.

A Literary Tapestry of American Voices

The Longcut American Literature Series encompasses a vast array of genres and styles, reflecting the multifaceted nature of the American literary tradition.

- From the sweeping historical novels of James Fenimore Cooper to the intimate and poignant short stories of Eudora Welty, the series showcases the breadth and depth of American fiction.
- The poetry of Walt Whitman, Emily Dickinson, and Langston Hughes provides profound insights into the American experience, capturing its triumphs and its complexities.
- Non-fiction works by such luminaries as Frederick Douglass, Henry David Thoreau, and Rachel Carson inspire reflection and illuminate important social and environmental issues.

Unveiling Hidden Gems and Rediscovering Classics

One of the hallmarks of the Longcut series is its commitment to rediscovering forgotten classics and bringing them to a new generation of readers.

Longcut has unearthed such literary gems as:

- The Recognitions by William Gaddis, a groundbreaking masterpiece of postmodern fiction

- Invisible Man by Ralph Ellison, a powerful and haunting novel that explores the complexities of race and identity in America
- The Crazy Horse Electric Game by Christopher Bollen, a darkly comic and unforgettable tale of drugs, love, and redemption

Alongside these rediscovered classics, Longcut also features a discerning selection of contemporary works from acclaimed authors such as:

- The Overstory by Richard Powers, a Pulitzer Prize-winning novel that explores the interconnectedness of all living things
- The Collected Schizophrenias by Esmé Weijun Wang, a powerful memoir that delves into the complexities of mental illness
- In Love by Amy Bloom, a poignant and moving novel about the nature of love and loss
