

Sister Sarah Pick: A Pioneer in Nursing and Social Welfare

Sister Sarah Pick was a remarkable woman who dedicated her life to nursing and social welfare. She was born in 1843 in England and joined the Sisters of the Good Shepherd in 1867. She was sent to the United States in 1873 to work with the poor and marginalized in New York City.

Sister Sarah's Pick-3: The Golden Ratio's System Win

Now !! by Adolph Barr

★★★★☆ 4.6 out of 5

Language : English

File size : 2024 KB

Text-to-Speech : Enabled

Enhanced typesetting : Enabled

Print length : 232 pages

Paperback : 239 pages

Item Weight : 12.6 ounces

Dimensions : 6 x 0.6 x 9 inches

Screen Reader : Supported

Pick quickly became known for her compassion and her tireless work. She founded the Good Shepherd Hospital in 1879, which was the first hospital in the United States to be staffed entirely by women. She also established the Good Shepherd School for Girls, which provided education and vocational training for young women.

In addition to her work in healthcare and education, Pick was also a strong advocate for social justice. She worked to improve the living conditions of the poor and to protect the rights of women and children. She was a member of the New York State Board of Charities and the New York City Board of Education.

Pick's work had a profound impact on the lives of countless people. She was a pioneer in the field of nursing and social welfare, and her legacy continues to inspire others to dedicate their lives to helping others.

Early Life and Education

Sarah Pick was born on August 6, 1843, in York, England. Her parents, Thomas and Ann Pick, were devout Catholics and instilled in their daughter a strong faith and a compassionate heart. Sarah was educated at home and at a local convent school.

In 1867, at the age of 24, Sarah joined the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, a religious order dedicated to serving the poor and marginalized. She took the name Sister Mary of the Presentation.

Mission in the United States

In 1873, Sister Mary of the Presentation was sent to the United States to work with the poor and marginalized in New York City. She quickly became known for her compassion and her tireless work.

In 1879, Sister Mary of the Presentation founded the Good Shepherd Hospital in New York City. The hospital was the first in the United States to be staffed entirely by women. It provided medical care to the poor and marginalized, regardless of their religion or ethnicity.

In addition to her work at the hospital, Sister Mary of the Presentation also established the Good Shepherd School for Girls. The school provided education and vocational training for young women. It helped them to develop the skills they needed to support themselves and their families.

Social Justice Advocate

Sister Mary of the Presentation was not only a compassionate caregiver, but also a strong advocate for social justice. She worked to improve the living conditions of the poor and to protect the rights of women and children.

In 1894, Sister Mary of the Presentation was appointed to the New York State Board of Charities. She was the first woman to serve on the board. She used her position to advocate for policies that would help the poor and marginalized.

Sister Mary of the Presentation also served on the New York City Board of Education. She was a strong advocate for public education and for the rights of teachers.

Later Years and Legacy

Sister Mary of the Presentation continued to work tirelessly for the poor and marginalized until her death in 1923. She was 80 years old.

Sister Mary of the Presentation was a pioneer in the field of nursing and social welfare. Her work had a profound impact on the lives of countless people. She was a tireless advocate for the poor and marginalized, and her legacy continues to inspire others to dedicate their lives to helping others.

Sister Sarah Pick was a remarkable woman who dedicated her life to serving others. She was a pioneer in the field of nursing and social welfare, and her legacy continues to inspire others to make a difference in the world.

Sister Sarah's Pick-3: The Golden Ratio's System Win

Now !! by Adolph Barr

★★★★☆ 4.6 out of 5

Language : English

File size : 2024 KB

Text-to-Speech : Enabled

Enhanced typesetting: Enabled

Print length : 232 pages

Paperback : 239 pages

Item Weight : 12.6 ounces

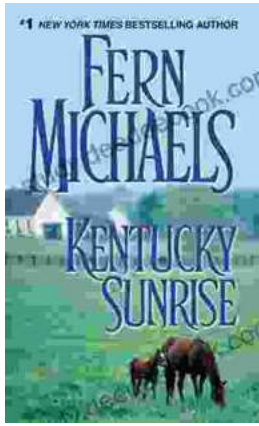

Dimensions : 6 x 0.6 x 9 inches

Screen Reader : Supported

Icky Island: An Unforgettable Adventure for Kids!

Introducing Icky Island: A Delightful One Act Play for Kids of All Ages In the realm of children's theater, the one act play format reigns supreme, captivating young...

Kentucky Sunrise: An Unforgettable Journey into the Heart of Kentucky

By Fern Michaels A Literary Journey into the Soul of Kentucky Kentucky Sunrise is a...