Ultraviolet Dawn is a shared superhero universe featuring characters with the power to manipulate ultraviolet light. The universe was created by writer and artist John Doe in 2023.

The Ultraviolet Dawn universe is set on Earth, in a near-future where ultraviolet light has become a major source of energy. As a result, people with the ability to manipulate ultraviolet light have emerged, and they have become known as Ultras.

There are many different types of Ultras, with a wide range of powers. Some Ultras can emit powerful beams of ultraviolet light, while others can use ultraviolet light to create illusions or to heal wounds. Some Ultras are even able to fly or to control the weather.

The Ultraviolet Dawn universe is a complex and ever-changing world. Ultras must constantly battle against villains who seek to use their powers for evil. They must also deal with the challenges of living in a world that is increasingly dependent on ultraviolet light.

However, one thing is for sure: the Ultraviolet Dawn universe is a universe with infinite possibilities. It is a universe where anything is possible, and where the future is unwritten.

So what does the future hold for Ultraviolet Dawn? Only time will tell.
